Mr. McAdoo Replies to Ajax.

To the Editor of the Telegram:

The article in your paper of yesterday signed "Ajax" is an unjust and cowardly attack on the motives by which I was actuated in supporting the Citizens' Ticket.

As to how Mr. Taylor or any one else voted on the telephone matter is a thing of the past with me, and probably would have never been recalled again, had it not been mentioned by this ancient King of Salamis, "who stabbed himself because the armour of Hector was awarded to Ulysses." If I had any prejudice at all in the matter, it would have been against my candidate for mayor, Hon. L. M. Scott, who was counsel for the Bell Telephone Co., and who made a ringing speech to secure the company's franchise.

My fight has been simply one for reform in our municipal affairs and to have liberal minded, conservative business men, to dictate the policy of the town, which means as much to us as the Amendment.

The Citizens' Waterloo on May the seventh will prove to "Ajax" whether or not this is personal prejudice.

DR. WINSTON AT HIGH POINT.

SPEAKS ON THE INDUSTRIAL PROSPECTS OF THE STATE.

Says That We Must Lay Aside Our Hurrahs That Have Impeded Us and Get Down to Business.

Correspondence of the Telegram.

High Point, May 1—This is commencement day of the High Point Graded Schools. President George T. Winston, of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, Raleigh, as had been previously announced, delivered the annual address before the school in the M. E. Church, beginning about 8:15 o'clock. Dr. Geo. H. Crowell, superintendent of High Point Graded Schools, introduced the speaker in a few well chosen words, saying that in 1887, when a young man just from the farm, he first saw Dr. Winston in one of the leading colleges of the State, and his first impulse was to find out the name of this fine looking man of such intellectual appearance, and no doubt the large audience present were asking themselves the same question. He now had the pleasure of introducing to them one of the leading educators of the South, and especially of North Carolina.

Dr. Winston said that he was going to talk on the industrial progress of the State—past, present and future. That while we were a great State our name had been lauded so much as to impede our progress. We had the resources and advantages to make us one of the most prosperous people on the globe, but have been slow to grasp them as we should, but in the past few years we had awakened to a realization of our situation and are making great strides forward. It is not what others say of us, but what we really are. Let us see ourselves in the true light and stop claiming things that do not belong to us and which are not essential to our growth as a State. Why! we claim that the huge whale which drifted from the gulf to the waters of North Carolina, was captured., dismantled of its flesh and whose gigantic bones adorn the State Museum, was a product of North Carolina. That the capital of the State is named after the man who laid down his cloak for Queen Elizabeth to walk on. That the first white child in America first saw the light of day in eastern North Carolina. That the first soldier killed in the civil war was a North Carolinian. That the first in the Spanish-American war to shed his blood for his country was from the Old North State. That because Mrs. Lincoln happened to visit us once, that the birth of Abraham Lincoln took place on North Carolina soil, that because some prominent man went to Asheville and died there that his birth was credited to this State, etc. The speaker was quite humorous at this stage of his address but his remarks were timely put. He forcibly demonstrated that we should put forth every energy in the upbuilding of our State and her great resources and not laud the small things to extremes. They tell us that we are too far North to be a Southern State, and too far South to be a Northern State, so we are between the two little ends of the horn. What kept the South back for so long a time? I answer slavery did it. The planter with mule, ox and horse could not keep pace with the educated white man, with steam and other modern improvements. This century has been one of industrial progress and power What is the war in South Africa today? It is a war of industrial conquest. When we took the Philippines it was for the same purpose. The future of North Carolina is an industrial one. We must utilize our smaller resources as well as larger resources. Since utilizing the cotton seed we realize $5,000,000 annually in the south for this alone. Instead of selling the oil produced from our cotton seed to foreign countries for a mere pittance and having them send it back labeled "olive oil" at a great advance in price, we will do the thing ourselves. The same way about Jersey "butter," etc. We are opening our eyes to all these things. We have enough water supply in the south to produce twice the yield of our present cotton crop, etc. All we need is skilled labor. We should do as the New England states are doing: build technical schools all over the south and fit men and and women so they can do as our northern friends are doing. North Carolina has a great industrial future. We need industrial training—it should be taught all over the South. Let us stop our hoorays and hurrahs, that have impeded our progress for so long a period and get down to business. Young men, I would not have you to enter the professions of life that are over-crowded today. Go into business and stick to it. I tell you, when the history of North Carolina is written, that the business man will be high upon the walls of progress. Since 1890 we have turned the tables and thank God we are on the move never again to be in the rear rank.

The talk was a gem and intensely interesting to all. We wish that we could do Dr. Winston justice in our random write-up of his address. Perhaps we could have done better if we had had the time and space. But enough, it is train time.

MARKUS AURELIUS SPEAKS.

GOING TO HAVE A HARDER TIME THIS YEAR THAN BEFORE.

Reviews the Situation From His Standpoint and Comes Out With Flying Colors.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 30.—The Leader has received from its Washington correspondent the following statement from Senator Hanna, chairman of the Republican national committee, concerning the outlook for the coming campaign from a Republican standpoint:

"As a result of a careful study of the situation I feel perfectly safe in making the prediction at this time that McKinley will be re-elected. There is no way of figuring how the Republicans can lose in the coming contests if they put their shoulders to the wheel and are not imbued with a spirit of over-confidence in the success of the ticket. The price of the victory will be much harder and more constant effort will be put forth. The Republicans should make the same kind of a fight they did in 1896. There should be no cessation in their endeavor to elect their candidates, and their application and attention to the details of the campaign must be steady and unceasing. They should go into the combat on the supposition that hard work is absolutely essential to victory.

"The spirit of Republican this year is of a most gratifying kind. At the Ohio State convention, held in Columbus, last week, this spirit was manifested in a plain and unmistakable manner. The delegates even then were prepared for the great political battle which will soon begin and it was patent that they would go into it with great enthusiasm Senator Fairbanks, who has just returned from the Indiana convention, says the Republicans of his State possess the same inspiration. This is true also of Republicans in other States and all reports I have received along this line are to the same effect. Evidence is plentiful that the Republican party all over the country realizes fully the necessity of entering the campaign with the earnestness and a determination to win a victory. In going over the list of States that cast their electoral vote for McKinley four years ago. I do not see any which will not do the same thing this year unless it be Kentucky. That State, I am placing in the doubtful column, although we certainly purpose making every effort to carry it. I regard Maryland, which the Democrats are claiming, already ready as reasonable certain to remain in the Republican column. Besides holding our own in practically all the States that we carried in 1896, we have reason to believe that the Republicans will carry Kansas, South Dakota and Washington, which went for Bryan four years ago, while our chances are excellent, I am assured by Senators Shoup and Carter, of winning Idaho and Montana, the States which they represent in the Senate. Altogether I am pleased with the outlook which could not be any more encouraging than it is."

PETTY THIEVES LASHED.

One Placidly Sucked His Cigarette at the Post.

Dover, Del., Dispatch.

Placidly sucking a cigarette, Robert Slighman, convicted of stealing blankets, took his fifteen lashes at the whipping post Friday as unconcernedly as though it were an every-day occurrence.

The occasion was the semi-annual flogging, and nine prisoners were whipped. A large crowd was present, many of whom came to see James M. Bernard, the Philadelphian who wrote the sheriff that he would surely be here to be whipped in payment of a bet with Conrad Harry, of that city.

Sheriff Wharton used a rawhide whip and plied it vigorously. It is a very different lash from the instrument of torture that is known as the cat-o'-nine tails, used in Newcastle county.

Samuel Granger and Harry Quillen, Dover boys, were whipped. Quillen got fifteen lashes for complicity in the Dover trunk robberies, and Granger for burglary, was given twenty lashes and an hour in the pillory.

Sheriff Wharton showed little mercy to these two, as the court had said there was little good in them. They tried to disguise themselves by pulling their hats over their faces.

Wilbur Ridgeway, a deaf mute, was given ten lashes for complicity in the trunk robberies; Joseph Turner was given ten lashes for stealing hides; Robert and Charles Waters, brothers, ten lashes each for stealing chickens, and Tobias Black and Tilghman Robinson, ten lashes each for complicity in the trunk robberies from the Delaware Railroad station.

"Now we are ready for James M. Bernard," said Sheriff Wharton, as he flourished his whip, when the prisoners had been carried back to their cells.

Mr. Barnard was not there He had written to the sheriff that his confidence had been betrayed, and that Conrad, with whom he had the wager, had pa'd it.

It's peculiar that the biggest expenses in married life are the little ones.

BOERS UNCOMMONLY ACTIVE

THREATEN TO GIVE THE BRITISH TROUBLE.

Wepener is Deserted and the Boers Got Away With a Good Deal of Stuff.

London, May 1, 3:50 a. m.—The Boers are now showing uncommon activity west of Bloemfontein. They are in force between Fourteen Streams and Kimberley. On Sunday they occupied Windsor, on the west of the railroad, and now threaten to interrupt the communications of the British force at Warrenton to the North. This, too, at a time when General Hunter is about to start on a two hundred mile march to Mafeking, probably with 5,000 men To the east of Bloemfontein the Boers Sunday night were still holding the hills near Thaba N'Chu, while behind them long wagon trains, loaded with wheat for the Boer army in the north are moving through Ladybrand. The British captured one Boer convoy on Saturday, but its size is not mentined in the dispatch which barely announces the fact.

Wepener, lately the scene of incessant fighting, is deserted, General Brabant and Colonel Dalghetty moving Northward. A dispatch from Mazeru, dated Monday, says: "The Basutos are a second time astounded to see the Boers peacefully retiring with herds which the natives think should be the booty of the British, who are said to be the conquerors."

According to information from Maseru the main body of the Boers reached Leeuw river, due west of Ladybrand, Sunday, small parties trailing behind at intervals of ten miles to protect the rear and whip up the herds Slight outpost actions take place daily beyond Karee siding, where the head of the British invasion is cantoned.

African horse sickness has broken out in General Buller's army. It proves especially fatal among freshly-arrived animals. The Bloemfontein correspondents point out that the deficiencies in the veterinary department cause thousands of losses.

General Lucas Meyer, replying to General Buller's complaint that some of the British prisoners at Pretoria are lodged in the town jail, says that only those are so treated who have tried, or who are suspected of trying, to escape. He retorts, moreover, that better prisoners are confined in the town jail of Pietermaritzburg with the natives.

The dispatches give prominence to the statement of a news agency that Sir Redvers Buller sent his resignation to Lord Roberts after the Spion kop censures were published, and that Lord Roberts declined to accept it.

The war specials today consist chiefly of detached scraps, the favorite introduction of the military commentors and editorial writers being that, as only scant news has been wired, something big is about to happen. The Daily Chronicle's expert says: "If a solid victory is to be obtained, the British must have different leadership from what has been displayed in the Dewetsdorp operations."

KENTUCKY CASE HEARD.

The Argument Before the United States Supreme Court.

Washington, April 30.—The argument in the Kentucky governorship case was begun in the Supreme Court today. The court room was crowded The first presentation was in behalf of Governor Taylor by Attorney Helm Bruce. He said that Mr. Taylor's contention was for constitutional liberty and that it was waged in a court of justice, and not on a field of carnage, because in entering the Union, Kentucky had surrendered its right of resistance. Mr. Bruce contended that after the issuance of the certificate of election, Mr. Taylor was as much the Governor of Kentucky as any man who had been inaugurated for that office. He denied that the executive adjudication was any adjudication at all. The proceeding was by due process of law as required by the constitution. He said the report of the committee on investigation presented no evidence and stated no fact, and that it had been referred to a court, of which no Republican member had been notified.

Mr. Bruce contended for the jurisdiction of the Federal Supreme Court under the constitution. The Kentucky Legislature's power extended only to the trial of a contest. Mr. Bruce contended that it had been confessed that these were so flimsy they could not be insisted upon. The only two grounds remaining were: The charges of thin ballots used in 40 counties, or a third of the State, and of intimidation in the city of Louisville. It could not be contended that the State itself could deprive a portion of its own population of the right of franchise without due process of law. So also in Louisville, where it was sought to disfranchise 36,000 voters, the wrong, if any, had been done in the action of the State executive.

Hon Lawrence N. Maxwell, appearing for Beckham, argued that the proceeding in this case had been in accordance with the law under the constitution. Mr. Maxwell continued that the case presented no Federal question and therefore the Federal Supreme Court had no jurisdiction. The Kentucky State Court of Appeals had decided that Mr. Taylor had never acquired title to the office of Governor under the constitution and laws of the State. Its decision was final. The certificate of election from the State board of canvassers was merely a writing showing the returns of the election of officers. It was of no validity of title over the conclusion reached by the constitutional authority which was the State Legislature. As the case was merely a State question, Mr. Maxwell thought it unnecessary to consider the application of the fourteenth amendment could only be applied where a right had accrued, and Mr. Taylor had never held any title to the office claimed by him.

Mr. Louis McQuown also spoke for Mr. Beckham He argued that if the State had provided a proper mode of procedure; if the election law was constitutional, there could be no legitimate criticism of the method of application and in that case the Federal Court was clearly devoid of jurisdiction. Error of that character could not give this court jurisdiction, He argued for the final and exclusive jurisdiction of the Legislature in contests of this character which the laws and the constitution intend. It would be possible in view of this fact to give the courts only concurrent jurisdiction. Mr. McQuown also contended that the Federal Court had no right to investigate or question the motives of the Legislature in its decision. It was to be presumed that the Legislature had acted on a proper knowledge of the facts of the case. The only resort was to the ballot. Ex-Governor Bradley, the only attorney remaining to be heard, will make the concluding speech for Governor Taylor.

McKINLEY WILL GO TO CHARLOTTE

Provided He has Time—The Meeting With the Committee.

Washington Special to Charlotte Observer.

The delegation which came here this morning to invite the President to attend the Charlotte celebration of 20th of May week was met at the Ebbitt House a little after 9 o'clock by Assistant Attorney General Boyd and by him escorted to the White House, where its members were joined by Senator Pritchard and Representative Bellamy. A few minutes after 10 the Senator presented the delegation to the President, told him of its errand and that Mayor McCall would speak for it. The mayor, in a speech of just the right length and of excellent taste, extended the invitation to the President, and through him to Mrs. McKinley and to any friends whom he might choose to bring with him. Senator Pritchard and Colonel Boyd followed the invitation with warm words of urgency.

Mr. McKinley asked these gentlemen if they would go with him if he went and received an affirmative reply He asked Senator Pritchard if his (the President's) going would be likely to be the subject of any misinterpretation, and was assured that it would not. The President said that if he went he would be sorry if it were supposed that his doing so had any reference to politics.

Secretary Hiss, of the chamber of commerce, presented the box containing the souvenir invitation in cotton, and in this Mr. McKinley was evidently much interested, turning to examine it at a time or two during the interview. Informal remarks were made by Messrs. Wittkowsky, Springs, Scott and others of the party and the interview assumed an informal, conversational character. The President was told how easy the trip would be and that he need not lose but one day from his duties here. He said that he would like to visit North Carolina and would look over his appointments and see if he could spend a day, say the 22nd, in Charlotte and give a definite answer later. The members of the delegation said goodbye and retired.

Senator Pritchard and Col. Boyd are much interested and will see Mr. McKinley again. Both are satisfied that he will accept the invitation. These gentlemen have been exceedingly courteous to the visitors. Formal invitation was extended them to come to Charlotte during gala week.

'LITTLE SHORT OF BLASPHEMY."

News and Observer.

Sewall's suggestion to a negro meeting in Rockingham to show "how Jesus would run this campaign" met with a richly deserved rebuke Sunday morning from at least one pulpit in Raleigh.

"I want to enter my earnest protest," said Rev. Dr. Pittinger, of the Good Shepherd church, in the beginning of his sermon, "at the frivolous way in which sacred things are being treated these days—the light manner in which the name of the Son of Man Himself is being bandied about.

"I refer especially to the question 'What would Jesus do?' We have it reduced in this morning's paper to little less than blasphemy."

Dr. Pittinger then went on to say that too often people asked this question as though Christ had absented himself from this world and no longer had anything to do with it; as though the world had broken loose and it would be an unusual, a remarkable thing if He should have any part in its control.

He still rules the universe and looks over his people with the same omnipotence that characterized His ministry while here on earth. 'Lo I am with you always, even to the end of the world.' Thus He spoke to His people for all time."

NOT A RIPPLE ON THE SEA

The majestic swing of the campaign for the permanence of good government and quiet of the State, and for the guarantee of progress and enlightenment, will not in the least be interrupted by the proceedings in Raleigh today and tomorrow. There was a time when the soreheads and cranks of populism could meet and the people would tremble; that was at the same time when a like meeting of the federal office holders would cause a like trembling, because there is no denying that the aggregation of Populist two-faced, Republican pie eaters, and the coons made a formidable foe, unworthy of any steel, but demanding to be fought.

But we never can quit chuckling over the fact that times have changed. These meetings, which a short while ago caused consternation, now excite no alarm. The campaign for government, and enlightenment, and progress, and white-man exaltation is on, so sweeping, so masterful, so magnificent, so full of meaning, so high above previous campaigns, that the Populist side shows and the Republican squabbles do not make a ripple.

We notice that Vox Populi and Tax Payer are rushing into print in Mecklenburg.

Our friend, the Salisbury Truth-Index, has revived the Mebane controversy. It has a taste for antiquities.

Great Scott! Mark Hanna says the price will be higher this year than in 1896. This, however, doesn't apply to the sable sons of the South who go up as delegates.

We note that Walter R. Henry has written an article on "the issues of the political campaign in this State," which is being published by installments in the Asheville Gazette. This is a sad reminder that Walter R. is in the land of the living. The Gazette ought to offer prizes for volunteers to read the article.

Delaware is the only State in the Union which yet adheres to the whipping post. We have somewhere seen it stated that this was the only means that Delaware could adopt to keep from being over-run by the criminals of the three adjoining States. The little State is jammed up between Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, but the fear of the whipping post makes trespassers steer clear of the little colony. If the whipping post is good for Delaware, it ought to be good for North Carolina.

THE GOEBEL MURDER TRIAL.

Tallow Dick and Others Arraigned on Charge of Complicity.

Frankfort, Ky., April 30—When the Circuit court convened at 2 p. m., today, Caleb Powers, John Davis, Harlan Whittaker, W. H. Culton and "Tallow Dick" Combs were arraigned on motion of the Commonwealth, charged with complicity in the Goebel murder.

Judge Cantrill overruled a motion to take up the motion for a change of venue in advance of arrangement Combs and Whittaker were first arraigned and each entered a plea of not guilty.

All of the defendants were brought into court and arraigned. All of them entered pleas of not guilty. The defense tendered pardons, granted to Powers and Davis by Governor Taylor, and this was followed by a motion to dismiss. The motion was overruled.

The grand jury reported at 3 o'clock. No additional indictments were made public. The report says a number of parties summoned as witnesses refused to appear and give testimony before that body, and recomends that they be punished for contempt, but the report does not make public their names.

Used Him to Catch His Brother.

New York Sun.

When Julia Dugan was murdered on Friday in her room at 73 Poplar street, Brooklyn, the police were satisfied that Jim McCauley, her paramour, was guilty of the crime. But Jim had disappeared. Not being able to find Jim, the officers at the Fulton street station gathered in his brother Mike just to see what the result would be. In the evening Jim went to the store at Prospect and Pearl streets, where Mike was employed and asked for his brother. He was told that Mike was locked up for murder.

"Murder!" he exclaimed. "Mike locked up for murder! It's a mistake. He didn't do it. I'll go to the station and explain the case."

So he walked into the police station and said that his brother was innocent.

"How do you know he is innocent?" asked the sergeant.

"Because I'm the man you are looking for," replied Jim.

Jim was then locked up and Mike was released the next morning by Magistrate Brenner.

Not the Place for Willie.

Chicago Times-Herald

A bright looking boy applied to the manager of one of the big department stores the other day for a position, and was asked what particular thing he felt competent to do.

"Well," he said, "I might start in as a cash boy."

"Very well. What is your name?"

"Willie Steele."

The manager looked at him doubtfully for a moment and then said:

"No, Willie; I'm sorry, but we can't have that name connected with our cash department. Go down in the basement where they handle iron goods, and see if they can't use you there."

Vance Statue Ready June 20th.

Olds Raleigh correspondence.

Joseph G. Brown, of the committee on the Vance statue, was in New York last week at the meeting of the American Bankers' Association, and while there saw the president of the Gorman Manufacturing Company, which has its factories at providence. The president said the Vance statue was in hand for the casting and would certainly be ready by June 20th. The committee will get to work now for the plans for ceremonies of July 4th, the date of the unveiling. A great deal has to be done to organize so great an affair.

The Blacks Didn't Stand Back at One Place.

F. A. Olds' Raleigh Correspondence

The Republican convention of Vance county was held at Henderson Saturday. All of its officers were negroes. Every delegate save one was a negro. The one was the son of Sheriff Smith. The sheriff was elected an alternate to the State convention. The convention elected a delegation half of whites and the other half of blacks. The sheriff was, by the way, at the Populist State convention here recently.

They Took Their Turns.

A young man residing in the northern section of the city had been calling for some time on a young woman, in fact he thoroughly enjoyed the company of her whole family. One evening he called and of the father who answered his ring he made his usual inquiry, "Are the folks in?" He was answered in the affirmative and asked to "step in."

He was ushered into the parlor, and after the old gentleman had engaged in conversation with him for about a quarter of an hour he excused himself, went out, and the eldest son next entered and entertained the young man for about a quarter of an hour. Then another brother and sister, and the young man's suspicions were somewhat aroused when the mother took her turn. A little sister came next, followed in turn by the family cat, which rubbed itself against the young man's newly pressed trousers.

He gave a sigh of relief when, after an hour spent in misery, his sweetheart made her appearance. He begged of her to "put him next" to the joke, and between her bursts of laughter she informed him that "since he was trying to court the whole family papa thought they had best take turns."

It is unnecessary to say that he failed to see the joke and has ceased his attentions.—Reading Eagle.

Nicknamed by Architects.

These young architects are merciless chaps when they are discussing the work of some one else. The spire of one of the new churches in Boston always attracts my attention. Away up aloft there are angels, gracefully poised, each with a trumpet at mouth and leaning far out on the air that swims around them. I have admired that group most mightily. I was commenting in that strain in the hearing of a Boston architect.

"Of what church are you speaking?" queried the architect.

I told him.

"Oh, yes," said he carelessly, "the Church of the Holy Beanblowers. That's what comes of lack of sense of proportion. Those trumps are too slender."

And now I can no longer admire that seraphic group on the spire. I strive to think of angels, and I fetch up by thinking of beanblowers.

And another church in Boston is in architects' terms the "Church of the Holy Thermometer" on account of some decoration meant to be imposing. And another is the "Church of the Kindergarten Steeples"—for there is one big spire surrounded by lots of little kid spires—"waiting to grow," say the architectural Philistines.—Lewiston Journal.

Look Before You Leap.

Once upon a time there was a young man who believed what the books said. He left the farm and came to the great city to make his fortune and to climb the ladder of fame. The books said a great deal about the ladder of fame, so the young man exercised himself on copybook morals and poor Richard's almanac in order to be able to chin himself up a round at a time.

He was especially strong on runaway horses, and one day, to his gratification, he saw a mad steed plunging down the crowded street. He could not see any fainting maiden attached, but still he knew this was his opportunity. He sprang for the bridle, but hit the front wheel instead and was projected with violence into the gutter. Six months later, when he came out of the hospital, he was sent to the Home For the Feebleminded for trying to stop a fire marshal in the performance of his duty.

Ruskin's Collars.

A prophet indeed has no honor in his own country. An English gentleman who had gone to Brantwood on an outing tour, finding himself in need of books in order to beguile a heavy hour or two, stepped into a bookstore of Ruskin's village and asked the lady attendant if she had any of the thinker's books. "Yes," she replied. "There were some, but they were not often asked for."

Having obtained the book he desired, he asked her what she thought of the great critic and teacher. Her ideas of Ruskin's personality were very vague, however, and she excused her ignorance on the ground that the people about there did not seem to trouble much about him. As for herself, she only knew him as "the old gentleman who only had a clean collar once a week."

Pat's Happy Wish.

Judge—So the prisoner hit you on the head with a brick, did he?

McGinty—Yis, yer honor.

Judge—But it seems he didn't quite kill you, anyway.

McGinty—No, bad 'cess to him, but it's wishin he had Oi do be.

Judge—Why do you wish that?

McGinty—Begory, thin Oi would have seen the schoundrel hanged for murther!—Chicago News.

Staying at Home.

A lady residing in North Columbus meeting a girl the other day who had lately been in her service inquired:

"Well, Mary, where do you live now?"

"Please, ma'am, I don't live nowhere," rejoined the girl. "I'm married."—Indianapolis Journal.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and othaches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

Decorating the Teeth.

"It's a curious thing," said the dentist as he caught the end of a nerve on a crochet needle and knotted up a few inches of it in chain stitch, "that, while some people consider gold fillings very disfiguring, more people look upon them as desirable decorations. I have had a great many people come in here and ask me to put gold fillings in perfectly sound front teeth. Of course I wouldn't do it; it wouldn't be professional. A great many colored people want solid gold teeth where there isn't the slightest necessity of having them.

"But the oddest request I've had yet was from a variety actress—vaudeville, I believe you say nowadays—who played here a short time ago. She came in to have a front tooth filled. When I told her that the gold would show a great deal, what on earth do you suppose she asked me? Why, she wanted to know if I couldn't drill the cavity larger and make the filling look not like a mere gold edge, but like the letter 'J.' She told me she was going to marry a man named John, and she thought it would be lovely to have a gold 'J' in her tooth.

"Of course I couldn't do that either. It would not be according to professional ethics. It would be malpractice. But that woman offered me the price of a dozen gold fillings if I'd only make the filling in her tooth look like a 'J.'" —Washington Post.

A Floral Miracle.

"The most magnificent floral effect I ever saw in my life," said Robert N. Wilson of the Morgan line, "was in Texas. They have a flower there called the rainflower, the botanical name of which is the cooperia. It usually blooms three or four days after a rain. I was through the country to look after some land for a friend, and the thing that struck me in that particular locality was the utter barrenness of the whole landscape. There was a low piece of land of ten acres or more that was covered with low, black vines that were decidedly uninviting. Four hours later, after a heavy thunder shower, I passed this piece of land, and it was absolutely covered with what seemed to be the prettiest flowers I had ever seen. It was one enormous bouquet, and the fragrance from it was almost intoxicating.

"I could scarcely believe the evidence of my own eyes, but there it was, what seemed to be an unsightly waste transformed as if by magic into a bower of bloom.

"I made inquiry of the natives and learned that once in a long time the rainflower bloomed in a few hours after a rain, though ordinarily the blossoms did not appear for three or four days and then usually came in the night."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

She Didn't Pay.

Not all car conductors are merely hardened ringers in of fares. A poor woman got on a Twenty-third street crosstown car at Fourth avenue, and as it was well under way and she was about to hand her fare to the conductor she asked him if he transferred to Sixth avenue. On being told no, she drew back her 5 cents and asked to be let off.

"I've a long ways to go on Sixth avenue," she said, "and I'd better walk to there and then ride."

The car then had reached Madison avenue.

"Wait till we get across the street," answered the conductor. She waited, and instead of stopping there he let the car go on, past the transfer station and across Broadway to Sixth avenue. There he pulled the bell and looked at her.

"Thank you," she said gratefully.

He had carried her within a block of where she wanted to go and had taken no fare.—New York Telegram.

More Than He Could Stand.

"What's this?" demanded the police, hurrying to the scene. "A hold up?"

A pale, scholarly looking man in spectacles was standing over a burly ruffian and shaking his slender fist at the prostrate form

"I presume that is what you would term it," he replied. "This fellow stopped me just now and ordered me to hold up my hands. I complied, and he began to search my pockets. 'I will put a bullet through you,' he said, 'if you take them down all during the time I am'— And then I knocked him down. 'All during' is an abominable perversion of correct English that no man can utter in my presence unrebuked."

The unlucky footpad had tackled a professor of rhetoric.—Chicago Tribune.

And He Knew.

"Algernon is very interesting," said the stockbroker's daughter.

"What does he talk about?" inquired her father.

"Why, he's ever so well posted in Shakespearean quotations."

"Young woman," said the financier sternly, "don't you let him deceive you. Don't you let him make sport of your ignorance. There ain't no such stock on the market."—London Standard.

How Dan Rice "Fixed It."

To Dan Rice the people of Lewiston are indebted for their town clock. He exhibited his circus in this town in the fifties without a license and the next day was arrested at McVeytown. So that his show might not be delayed he promised to give a clock to the town if he was permitted to go on, and he kept his promise faithfully—Lewiston (Me.) Free Press.

There is no surer mark of the absence of the highest moral and intellectual qualities than a cold reception of excellence.—Bailey.

J. C. Kennedy, Roanoke, Tenn., says. "I cannot say too much for DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. One box cured what the doctors called an incurable ulcer on my jaw." Cures piles and all skin diseases. Look out for worthless imitations. Howard Gardner.

DOES IT PAY TO BUY CHEAP?

A cheap remedy for conghs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

STARVED TO DEATH.

Wilmington Dispatch.

Percy, of Dominica, the religious fanatic who has created such a ripple of excitement among the colored element of the northern part of the city, will be tried at the next term of Criminal Court for having been an accessory to the murder of Jeannette Scott, colored. She is the woman who, at Percy's behest, began a long term of fasting. After fifty-fours days without food she died last night, at 9:30 o'clock, at the house on Eighth street, between Harnett and Swan, where the "King of the Creoles" has been promulgating his doctrines.

Percy was given a hearing this morning before the Mayor, at 9:30 o'clock. The warrant was amended from public nuisance to accessory to murder. The court room was crowded with people.

Mayor Waddell asked the prisoner if he had any counsel. The reply was "No, and I don't want any." The Mayor also asked the prisoner if he wanted to ask the witnesses any questions. The answer was again in the negative.

Eight out of a large number of witnesses were examined. They testified in the main what the public is already familiar with, namely, that Percy caused the women to fast, telling them that they out to fast as many days as he was years of age; that he declared that he was there to see that they carried out his instructions; that he told them the water they drank was the blood of Christ, and that throngs of people gathered about his headquarters.

The Mayor bound him over to the criminal court under a $1,000 bond, in default of which, he was committed to the county jail.

In talking about the death of the woman, after court adjourned, Percy said that she was in hell for she died for the want of faith.

Sheriff MacRae and Chairman McEachern, of the County Commissioners, went over to the City Hall to interrogate the prisoner to see if there was any ground upon which to make out an affidavit demanding that he be examined for insanity, but they found him to be, in their opinion, quite sane.

AN ANCIENT BELIEF.

The ancients believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon within a man. Any one who has had an attack of slatic or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the affliction is demoniac enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism, and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by C. E. Holton, Druggist.

AN EPIDEMIC OF WHOOPING COUGH.

"DANGER IN THE EARTH AND AIR; DANGER EVERYWHERE."

A Wise and Venerable Doctor Talks about Advanced Science.

In a leading hotel, in a great city, a famous and aged physician was conversing. Listening to his wise and sententious discourse, were a group of well dressed men, evidently lawyers, business men and commercial travelers.

My firm belief, is "that medical science is certain yet to show that all diseases without exception are caused by invisible germs which are living organisms. Here is the germ of that terrible disease diphtheria. Here is the bacillus of typhoid fever; and here is the still more dreadful bacillus of tubercle which causes that most destructive of all diseases, consumption. This of that very common and supposed incurable disease, catarrh."

"I wish, Doctor," said the traveling man, "that you would tell us about catarrh. I have had it for years, and I am thoroughly discouraged."

The Doctor answered. "Catarrh, like diphtheria, consumption, typhoid fever, and a host of other diseases, is the result of a microbe invading the blood and attacking specially the mucous membrane. This foul and most disgusting disease is especially prevalent in the United States and it is rare to meet one who is not, or has not been troubled more or less with it. How often is he or she obliged to remain at home from pleasant entertainments, deprive themselves of many intellectual treats, from fear of the disagreeable odor arising from catarrhal affections. In its worst phase, the patient becomes loathsome both to himself and his friends.

"I believe," continued this great physician, "that the true way to heal catarrh is to medicate the blood. This can be done only by powerful alteratives which act as blood purifiers."

Betsy A. Marett, of Manistee, Manistee Co., Mich., writes:

Dear Sirs:—For ten years I was a sufferer from general debility and chronic catarrh. My face was pale as death. I was weak and short of breath. I could hardly walk, I was so dizzy and had a ringing in my head all the time. My hands and feet were always cold. My appetite was very poor. On getting up in the morning, my head swam so I was often obliged to lie down again. I had awful pains in the small of my back. I had a continual feeling of tiredness. My muscular power was almost entirely gone, and I couldn't go half a dozen steps without stopping to rest, and often that much exercise caused me to have a pain in my side. It seemed as though the blood had left my veins. The doctors said my blood had all turned to water. I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I tried the best physicians in the state, but failed to get any relief. My husband got me a bottle of Johnston's Sarsaparilla. I took it, and then I bought another. When these had been used, I was somewhat improved in health. I continued its use, and felt I was growing stronger; my sleep was refreshing, and it seemed as if I could feel new blood moving through my veins. I kept on taking it, and now consider myself a well and rugged woman. I work all the time, and am happy. I am positive that the Sarsaparilla saved my life. The sick headaches I have had since childhood, have disappeared, and my catarrh has almost entirely left me. I cannot be too thankful for what Johnston's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I recommend all women who have sick headaches to use your Sarsaparilla.

GOING TO THE CONVENTION

Large Numbers of Republicans Finding Their Way to Raleigh.

The Republican State Convention will assemble in Raleigh tomorrow, and the eastbound trains today carried many delegates and politicians who went to attend the preliminary exercises.

State Chairman Holton, United States Marshal Millikan, and Register of Deeds Winslow, of Randolph county, were among those who went down yesterday. This morning Senator Pritchard, ex-Congressman Pearson and Col. James E. Boyd came in from Washington on their way. They were joined here by the beautiful and accomplished Warren Vines Hall, president of the Republican Young Men's State League.

Among those who left on the belated noon train were Postmaster Tyre Glenn, Revenue Agent A. C. Patterson, and Ed L Ragan and A. P. Grace, of the revenue office; J. M. Bailey and J T. Millikan, of the marshal's office; P. A. Mitchell, of Republican headquarters; F. K Trogdon, secretary of the county executive committee, and J. C. Meekins.

On the train were also Collector Harkins, V. S. Lusk and T. S. Rollins of Asheville; Major J. M. Moody, of Waynesville; Deputy Marshal E. A. Cooper, of Hickory, and J. C. Bradshaw, of Salisbury.

Mr. W. F. Trogdon, the advance guard of the Rockingham delegation, came over this morning and will be joined here tonight by others.

A member of the Guilford delegation could not say for whom the vote of this county would be cast for governor, but thought Judge Adams would receive it if he should be placed in nomination

WHO WILL HELP?

Mr. Bailey Asks for Contributions for Those Who Suffered by the Fire.

To the Editor of the Telegram:

The account of the fire on South Elm street on Sunday morning, as given in yesterday's Telegram was in keeping with your usual excellence in recording events as they occur, also to my suggestion that aid be extended by the good people of Greensboro to the young ladies who suffered so severely by the fire.

When I handed Mr. Phillips fifty cents for this object and suggested that he start the subscription, I did not know that he had severed his connection with the Telegram. So he handed me back the money with the suggestion that I take charge of the fund and ask the people to contribute liberally to it. These young ladies are very worthy. They lost all their property. Who will help? All contributions will be acknowledged in the Telegram and turned over to the proper parties.

Respectfully,
W. H Dailey, Jr.

Caucus of the Tailors of Tooley Street Last Night.

It was current rumor on the streets this morning that the Tailors met last night in the private office of a Republican. The meeting was presided over, says the rumor, by a Democrat who went into the Democratic primaries last year and received the Democratic nomination of his ward for Alderman and was elected by Democratic votes. Col. L. M. Scott made the first speech of the evening. He was followed by Capt. B. J. Fisher who made the principal speech of the occasion. It is said that the captain's eloquence made the atmosphere blue, and that as a sequel to his very vigorous remarks, one of the audience shook the dust from his feet and quietly withdrew The Captain's speech seems no to have been on the right key, for it is said that a Democrat followed him, announcing his intention to return to the faith of his fathers and vote the straight Democratic ticket. Matters seem to be growing more panicy for the Tailors of Tooley Street.

A Bit of Natural History With a Moral.

To the Editor of the Telegram:

On many islands of the sunny, tropical seas, the most conspicious, as well as the most graceful, object that greets the eye of the passing traveler is that of the tall, waving palm tree. One of the numerous varieties of the genus palmae bears a succulent fruit, the well known cocoanut, grateful alike to men and monkeys. To get this fruit without the trouble of climbing a tree whose smooth stem sometimes rises sixty feet or more without a limb, the natives make use of the natural stupidity of the more agile monkey in the following manner: It is easy to stir up the passions of these irascible little animals. Once thoroughly enraged they skin up the tall trees and try to pelt their foes below with the hard cocoanuts. When the trees have been denuded of their fruit the natives proceed at their leisure to gather up the spoils of war and quietly decamp, leaving the monkeys up the trees chattering over their barren victory. If the monkeys are satisfied surely the natives ought to be.

MORAL:

Only silly Democrats will allow themselves to be used by their natural enemies. Æsopus.

A MESSAGE TO DEMOCRATS.

To the Editor of the Telegram:

Your editorial in yesterday's issue of the Telegram entitled "What is Proposed" was the clearest cut statement that has yet appeared of the exact present political situation in the city of Greensboro, and as chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, I desire to direct to it the careful scrutiny of every Democrat in Greensboro, and respectfully ask that you will reproduce in this evening's paper the editorial referred to.

Respectfully,
C. H. Ireland, Chairman
D m. Ex. Committee.

WHAT IS PROPOSED.

The present condition of politics in Greensboro presents a very interesting spectacle. It affords an opportunity for a study of human nature, with accent on the human. Let's see.

This city has for some time been governed by officers elected through the regular channels of the Democratic party. The Democratic party has, therefore, been responsible for the management of the city's affairs. So far as we have been able to learn, there has not been any complaint against the party's administration of the city government. The party went in on certain pledges for city improvement and has been carrying them out carefully and as fast as compatible with safety. The opposition does not base its objection on these grounds. Neither does it set up any argument to prove that the city government cannot be managed better by men elected by the Democratic party and responsible to that party, and through it to the people, than by a few men who get together on the authority of nobody, and ask the people to put the city in their hands on no platform, on no pledges, on no responsibility. Until they show that the Democratic party has been unfaithful or that it is not competent, it is clear that their opposition rests upon some other grounds.

Simply and solely, stated in plain terms, this movement was originated by a clique of Democrats who wished to dominate the Democratic party, yet dared not submit the issue to the party primary. The tail wanted to wag the dog and for fear the dog couldn't be wagged, the tail severs itself and undertakes to kill the dog. That is, these men, fearing their inability to control the Democratic party, are now moving heaven and earth to defeat it by Republican and negro votes.

Let's keep things straight: The promoters of the citizens' ticket are making an out, open fight, on the Democratic party which stands for something. They promise nothing, pledge nothing, give no guarantee They do not even give a reason for their opposition, their secret reason being as stated above, the fear of submitting themselves to a man-for-man primary of the party. When the matter is thus reduced to its elements, the utter absurdity of the movement is apparent.

FOR GOOD ROADS ESSAYS.

Mr. Wright Offers Thirty Dollars in Gold as Prizes.

Ever since the Telegram was established it has kept up the agitation for good roads. Mr. C. G. Wright, its former owner, and one of its present stockholders, and the President of the Company, has been working assiduously for good roads, and he has now shown additional interest and loyalty to the cause. He now offers W witter W thirty dollars in gold as prizes for essays on the subject, the award to be made July 1, and the prize essays to be published in the Telegram. A more detailed statement of the contest will follow.

OVER THE FALLS WENT THE DEER.

Boston Herald.

This seeems an improbable game story, but it is vouched for by Fish and Game Commissioner Henry C. Stanley of Maine.

One day recently he and his colleagues, L. T. Carleton, and P. O. Vickery, of Augusta, Me., were in a club room in that city that overlooks the Kenebec. The room afforded a good view of the dam and water pouring over it. The gentlemen were admiring the scene, the waters were rushing madly over and the rapids loaded with huge cakes of ice. The ice was just leaving the river above, and was bringing down all sorts of debris, including mighty saw logs that would make the plunge of twenty feet over the dam, down through the undertow and up and on again through the quarter mile of rapids.

All at once they saw a live deer, standing trembling on a cake of ice. Rapidly he approached the falls. He seemed to gather himself for a final plunge for life. The gentlemen watching saw destruction coming to a handsome buck, and were powerless to hinder. They held their breaths for the final plunge. The great cake of ice rolled up, as the lower edge tipped over the mighty cascade, but the deer stood his ground.

He went under the water below the dam. He could not be seen for quite a distance down, and the gentlemen watched for his dead body to come to the surface. But he appeared after a moment of great suspense, alive, and immediately swam bravely for the shore He reached the bank on the other side and quickly scrambled up, then bounded over the fence and disappeared in the fields beyond, going rapidly for the woods.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable.
